RACE Day

Your group will be split into teams of four to five participants, and will be required to build, brand and race a soapbox derby racer. A unique teambuilding exercise, groups focus on problem solving, leadership, communication, and other facets of team development.

Objective – To design, purchase materials, assemble, brand, and race a soapbox derby racer while still remaining as close to budget as possible.

- Teams will be given a “budget” with which they must design, purchase parts, build, brand, and race their vehicle.
- During the initial R&D time, the teams may examine a pre-built chassis to get ideas on how a working car is put together. From this, they will design and assemble their own vehicles.
- Teams must complete the assembly of their vehicles before the race entry deadline.
- Teams are responsible for the “branding” of their team and vehicle.
- Teams should choose the lightest/smallest teammate to drive the racer.
- Following the race, the financial totals for each team will be calculated, the program will be debriefed, and the overall winners will be announced.
